DÉGUSTATION

The nose is refined, persistent and offering ethereal aromas of peach and mandarin, supported by an enjoyable oak presence.

The palate is fresh and the definition of terroir becomes clearer as the tasting progresses. Rich flavours linked to aromas from Chardonnay, then you move to bitter skins associated with the bitterness from new barrels which render the wine very salivating. This length extends the quality of the fruit and the expression of terroir, together with almost marly notes, refreshing the wine.

To drink now to enjoy the fruit and salinity or wait between two to three years once the fruit has been absorbed by the wine, revealing the true quality of the soil.
